Teenage workshops

During the conference, teenagers will have a chance to get together in their own space. Our workshops for teenagers will cover a variety of topics and issues, such as:

- Ice-breakers – a fun session getting to know each other
- What other young people say about having epilepsy
- Hopes and concerns – where teens can write down any questions or concerns they have that they would like answered
- The 'Best consultation ever' sketch, performed by facilitators from NCYPE
- Staying positive – sharing experiences and coping strategies for school and college
- Questions for the Professor – the chance for teens to write questions which will be answered by Professor Helen Cross
- What parents and healthcare professionals need to know about your epilepsy

Once a young person has decided to take part in the teens workshop we will send you a questionnaire for them to complete with an adult. This will help us tailor the workshops according to their interests.
